

Euthanasia and Assisted-Suicide: Deadly Compassion

“Right to Die”
“Death with Dignity”
“Aid in Dying”

In Canada, these words are being used to justify giving one person the legal right to kill another on compassionate grounds.

Euthanasia is a deliberate act or omission which intentionally causes a person's death.

Assisted suicide involves an individual providing someone with the information or means to take his or her own life. In physician-assisted suicide, doctors prescribe lethal drugs for patients.

Safeguards in Holland have failed to protect patients from being killed by euthanasia without their consent or request.

*It is not the right to die that is being proposed.
It is the right to kill.*

Oppose Euthanasia and Assisted Suicide:
Doctors are for healing not for killing.
